Dear Lis,

Thank you for taking the time to update our office/working photographs to update our website and to take Headshots of the newest members of my team.

Lindsay in particular commented that she had never felt so comfortable having a photograph taken Your natural style never fails to put people at ease.

I have now lost count of the number of times you have updated our pictures through the years and your advice on having really up to the minute photographs often pays dividends when I meet new Clients.

Thank you, Lis. As ever, you are truly one in a million!
Kind regards
